DEDICATION

*For his kindly interest in Fenwick we respectfully dedicate this issue of BLACKFRIARS to the Very Reverend T. S. McDermott,
O. P., S. T. L.*

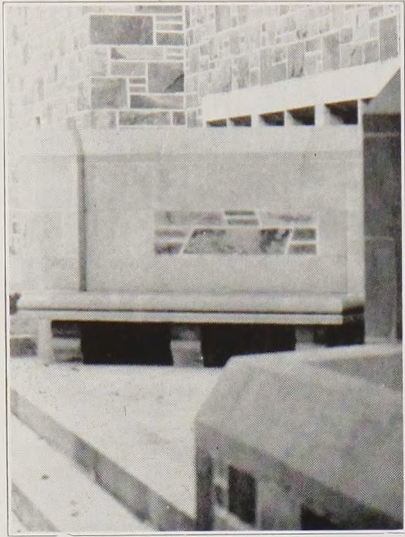

The Very Reverend

Senior Class History

The third graduating class of Fenwick. How proud we are! Although we are not, in the strict sense, the pioneers of Fenwick, we have followed, we think, so closely behind those leaders that we have contributed much toward preserving traditions which have become such a part of our school.

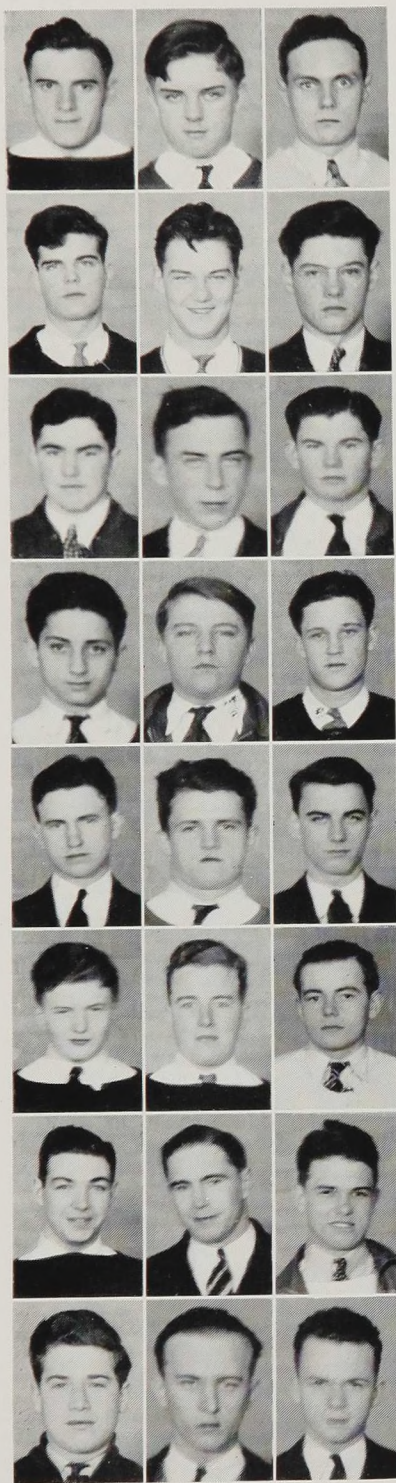

With the glamorous days of grammar school still a fresh memory, we entered the portals of Fenwick. Four years lay before us; we were now high school "men". The first days initiated us into the system of the school; each class meant a new professor; each subject was of a higher, more interesting plane than those of the elementary grades. Do you remember that our freshman year opened in the middle of a heat spell? However, we settled down to study, making a high scholastic record which stands as the coveted aim of freshman classes. Do you remember way back when we used to have half hour religion classes, followed by fifteen minute resses? In those days we were obliged to use the rear entrance; the upper classmen reminded us of the rule, if we forgot. The first annual Silver Glove tournament was held in March, a freshman fighting his way to the championship.

In our sophomore year ten members of our class were on the football squad and contributed their bit to the four victories out of eight games. Three sophomores made the basketball team, which had a fair season. The swimming team, the first Fenwick team to enter a Catholic League event, won third place. In the second Silver Gloves tournament three sophomores were champs.

The Black and White football team entered the Catholic League in our junior year. By winning four out of five games it proved that the team was ripe for competition. We shall never forget the time we defeated St. Ignatius, and then defeated them a second time over their "protest". The Junior Prom, held at the Midland Club, was by far the most successful ever held. The basketball team, with four members from the junior class, had a rather inglorious year. However, the swimming team made a name for itself by winning the Catholic League Championship.

Then came the final year, the beginning of the end. We elected the following officers to lead us: Knusman, President; Monaco, Vice President; McGrath, Treasurer; Cole, Secretary. The football team, made up mostly of seniors, won the west section championship of the Catholic League. Marked improvement was seen in our basketball team. For the second year in succession our swimmers won the Catholic League Championship.

As the sun goes down on our happy high school days, we, the class of 1934, bid farewell to all, hoping that we may be as successful in life as we have been in Fenwick.

School Song

Hail, dear old Fenwick High;

All hail to Thee!

Our Alma Mater, we pledge our loyalty.

For Thee we'll ever strive

Victory to gain.

The White, the Black, brave sons will never lack

Her glory to retain.

Then fight! with a might reflecting the courage of Fenwick men.

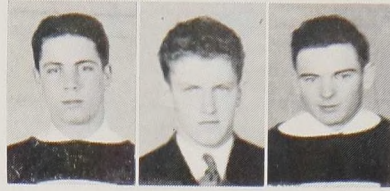

What though we fall; Fenwick will rise up and fight again.

Thy Name and Honor bright we will defend;

To God, to Country, and to Alma Mater

Faithful unto life's end.

Activities

J. Monaco, Vice President; R. McGrath, President; B. Masterson, Secretary.

St. Thomas Confraternity

Under the direction and leadership of the Pius XI and the St. Thomas Sections of the Catholic Action Group, food supplies were collected from the homes of the students and divided into two hundred and fifty baskets and distributed at Christmas time to needy families.

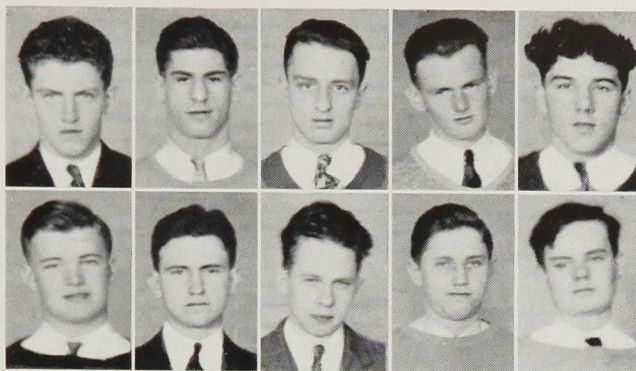

While all of the Mission Sections were engaged in the collection of tin foil and cancelled stamps, the Las Casas section was the most outstanding in this regard. In addition, each member contributed dues of five cents a week, which enabled them to send forty dollars to the Dominican Foreign Missionaries. This Section likewise inaugurated and sponsored Tin foil and Stamp Week, May 7 to 12.

The principal activity of the Catholic Literature Group was the co-operation with the Ciscora in the weekly sale of the New World. Catholic Press Hour on Monday mornings was held in all the Religion classes, and Fenwick led all the boys' schools in the number of weekly subscriptions.

Among the accomplishments of the Ozanam Catholic Action Section was the establishment of the Knights of the Blessed Sacrament. The members of this organization signed pledge cards to receive Holy Communion once a week. The initial enrollment was very encouraging.

The St. Dominic Catholic Action Section engaged in a campaign for clean speech, and Holy Name emblems were distributed to the members to be worn in the lapel of their coats.

At their request, the Confraternity of the Rosary was established to enable the students to participate in its many spiritual benefits.

J. Walsh, W. Jennings, R. Murray, F. Haubold, G. Sullivan.

Wick Staff

An entirely new Wick staff, with Father Myers, O. P., the moderator, was made into a Journalistic Composition Class which met twice each week, and for its first issue in October and succeeding issues the staff edited a re-vamped newspaper. The paper was lengthened, made up in five columns instead of four, and printed with a new style type. While the banner on the first page was merely spread to meet the new width, the one on the sports page was eliminated. With these changes and a new "style sheet", the Wick became a tremendous success with the students.

A new column on student sidelights — "Peeping through the Wicket", by Manurk, and later "Sputterings", by Upchuck — replaced the former variety of columns. The first issue started a series of articles, "The Wick Illuminates"; each issue "illuminating" some Senior leader in the school. "The Trading Post", a new column with extracts from exchange papers, was written with great originality. A corner of the sports page was given over to an original "Sports Coroner", containing comments on school sports news.

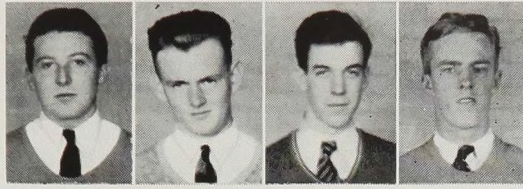

It is agreed by all that the Wick has made great strides during the past year.

Hi-Fen Club

The Hi-Fen Club, an organization of upperclassmen, which was formed in the Fall of 1932, continued its activities this year. Writing publicity for our football team for the city papers, the club encouraged others to do the same for the basketball and swimming squads. Under its sponsorship the Hi-Fens held the Catholic Grammar School Swimming Meet at Fenwick. A ping-pong tournament, which aroused considerable interest and keen competition during the winter months, was sponsored by the Hi-Fens, with a trophy presented to the winner. Speeches prepared by the club members were delivered at the various grammar schools in order to excite interest in Fenwick. Fulfilling the purpose for which they were organized, the Hi-Fens assisted in every scholastic activity of the year.

The members of the Hi-Fen are students who are found in every branch of school life, athletic as well as scholastic. At one of the many "stags" held during the school year a group of Juniors were initiated, these new members forming a nucleus for club activities in 1934-35.

Naturally the club is in the process of development, and judging from its activities we may say that its members are laying the foundations for those to follow.

Le Cercle Francais

This is the second successful year of the existence of Le Cercle Francais. Although it was unfortunately impossible to hold many of the regular meetings because of schedule difficulties, several informal meetings were held after the regular classes. A number of travelogues of France, well illustrated by slides, were given by various members. As the purpose of the club is, of course, to aid its members in the art of fluent conversation, French was spoken as much as possible during the meetings, and the addresses were frequently punctuated by French expressions.

During the past year the French library has been increased considerably. It now contains a large number of volumes of French literature and many French newspapers and reviews. Each member also receives regularly a French magazine, Le Francais. This magazine has accustomed the members to read the interesting current events in France, and it has offered splendid material for discussion a l' assemblée. Each month the club conducts a column in The Wick containing interesting articles on French subjects.

The eagerness and zeal manifested by Le Cercle Francais gives promise of future development.

Mothers' Club

Since its beginning but three short years ago the Mothers' Club of Fenwick has become one of the school's most loyal organizations. By its generous contributions, with the co-operation of the Fathers' Club, Fenwick could boast of its well equipped, smart-looking teams in the Catholic League.

Behind every one of its parties — great successes, too — was the ulterior motive: for Fenwick. This unselfish spirit of the Mothers might well be imitated by their student sons, because this same spirit has attracted many mothers to the Club and has swelled the once small roster to one of truly large proportions.

It has not been an easy task. On the contrary, it has been a task which required the expenditure of much time and energy. In order to proceed with its plans, the Club needed the whole-hearted support of all of its members.

MR. WM. MCHUGH

MR. C. STRENING
President

MR. N. BELL

Fathers' Club

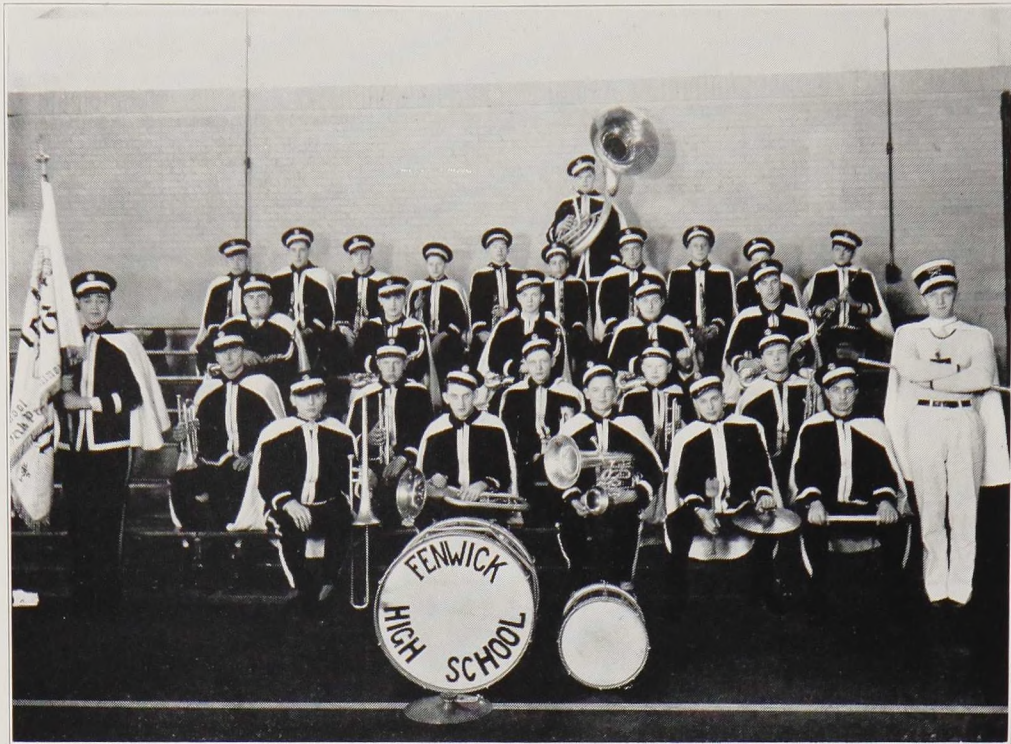

Launching on its second year with added enthusiasm, the Fenwick Fathers' Club continued to its interest in things that pertain to the school. Every Monday and Thursday evening its members gathered to take advantage of the athletic equipment in the gymnasium and pool. Whether it was in a game of indoor baseball, hand ball, or volley ball, they had a chance to forget about the cares of the day. Possibly, too, they were getting themselves in trim for that annual indoor baseball game with their sons. Unfortunately they lost that game for the second time.

At the beginning of the school year the Club got behind the football team, bought new equipment, and used means to increase the attendance at the games. Periodically, the Fathers sponsored informal socials which helped not only materially but added many new friends to Fenwick.

The second annual Fathers and Sons Banquet, held at the Knickerbocker Hotel, was even more successful than last year. At this affair many Notre Dame athletes honored the Club by their presence.

A Carnival of three days, at which the Fathers were ably assisted by the Mothers' Club, was a tremendous success.

In order that the Club may enjoy spiritual as well as social advantages, the activities of the Club are to end with a retreat for its members and their friends at the Dominican House of Studies, in River Forest.

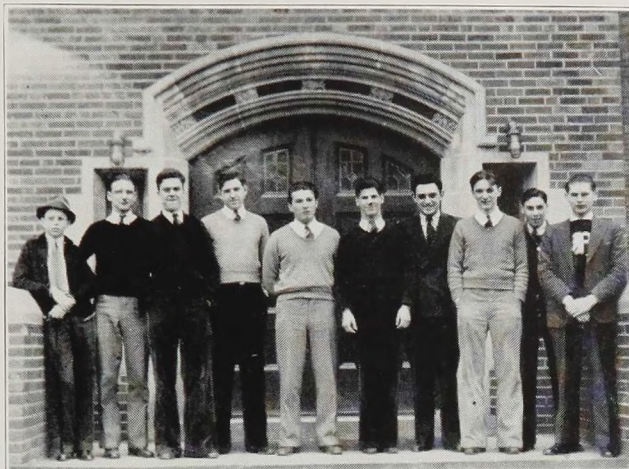

The Fenwick Band

The Fenwick Band is growing, not with leaps and bounds, but growing. At the present rate, it seems that not many years will pass before we have a band that will be proportional to the total number of students.

In its first public appearance this year, the Band played at the World's Fair grounds on Oak Park Day. During the football season the Band was not only a familiar sight but a necessary feature. Even a small band can add zip and color to the best athletic contest, and our own Black and White band, from the first home game to the championship test at Soldiers' Field, gave positive evidence of its excellent training under the capable leadership of Mr. P. M. Keast, who, in his second year, has spared nothing in the formation of a band worthy of the school.

Aside from its appearance at all athletic contests, the Band also took part in the annual archdiocesan music festival. On May 8th it gave an enjoyable concert in the school gymnasium.

In order to avoid sacrificing too much of their leisure time, each member of the Band is now permitted to use some of his school time to practice on his instrument, leaving Wednesday afternoons for a rehearsal of the entire Band. The plan has been very successful, and without a doubt it will be continued.

B. Killacky, W. Hayes, J. Rice, E. Carraher, W. Costello, L. Mondì, E. Mitchell, C. Corr, J. Trimarco, L. Shimandle.

Camera Club

Although only a year old, the Camera Club is more than a budding organization. During the football season its members were posted in every corner of the field in order to get prize "shots". Many of these, especially the movies that were taken at some games, were useful to the coach in giving his instructions and criticisms, and a number of them found a place in the Wick. The Club also contributed many pictures for Blackfriars, showing the students in every-day school life.

It has inaugurated a print contest for members only, and it has entered nationwide contests sponsored by camera magazines.

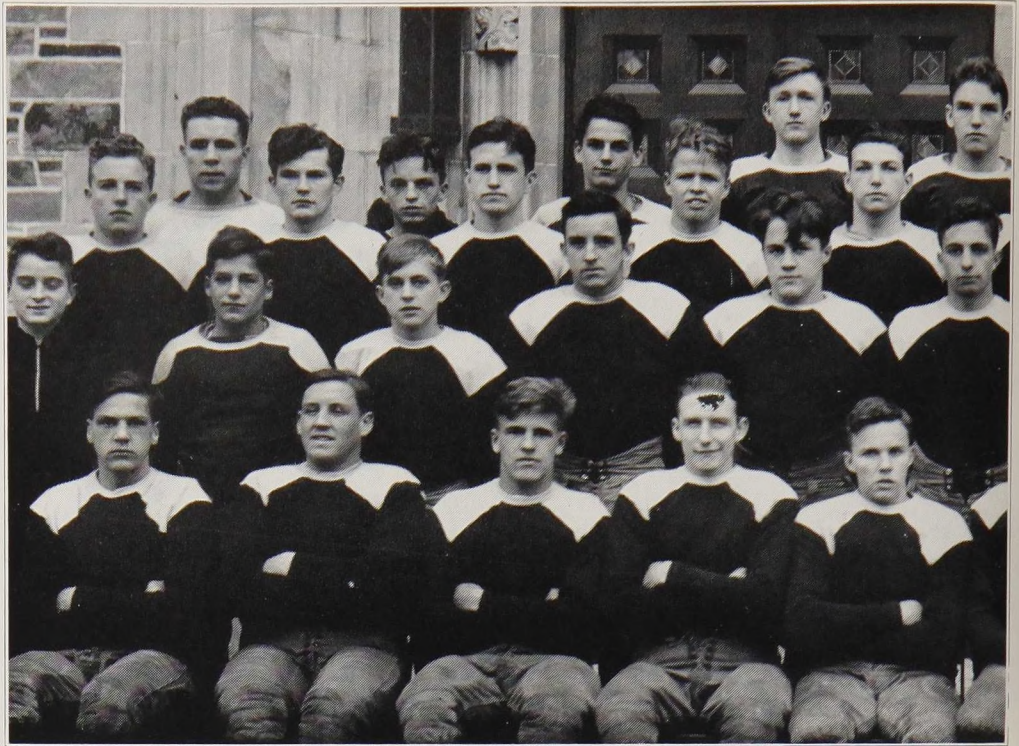

For next year the club's Moderator, Father Daley, O. P., is planning an even more extensive program, one which will top this year's activities.

At present the officers are: Leonard Mondì, President; Edward Carraher, Vice President; Joseph Trimarco, Treasurer.

Fenwick 18

Mooseheart 0

The whistle blew; the 1933 season began. Capt. Spehn kicked the ball to Mooseheart, our friendly rivals, in Aurora. Although Fenwick soon smothered all of Mooseheart's thrusts at the line, the Friars themselves did not click. Passes were dropped over the goal line and long runs went for nothing because of penalties. The half ended without a score for either side.

Early in the second half things began to brighten. Jack Joy, substituting for Bob McGrath, cut off right tackle for a 60-yard run and a touchdown. The extra point was missed. Hitting the line brought no gain to Mooseheart, so they punted. Joy then repeated with another long run, this time one for 45 yards. After his second score, Joy failed to convert the extra point. Late in the third period the Black and White forced the ball far into Mooseheart's territory. "Moose" Norris crashed over the goal line for the third and final touchdown. Again the extra point was wide.

Fenwick 29

St. Michael 0

With the nervous tension of the first game over, Fenwick faced a new foe from the North Side. The Friars lost no time. After Michael's had received the kick-off and failed to gain, Fenwick took the ball on the 45-yard stripe. A short pass to Cummins enabled him to cross the goal line standing up. The try for the extra point failed. In the second quarter Norris plunged over from the 5-yard line, McGrath kicking the extra point. Scarcely waiting to catch his breath McGrath skirted the end for twenty yards and a score. He kicked the extra point as the half ended.

In the third quarter the Friars showed plenty of power, but their efforts were nullified several times by fumbles. When St. Michael's tried to punt from behind their own goal line, the kick was blocked and recovered outside the end-zone by Nebel. In the last period Michael's made two first down before they were stopped on their own 45-yard line. After Fenwick took the ball, McGrath shot a 45-yard pass to Musham. The extra point was good, making the score 29 to 0.

St. Patrick 14

In mud a foot deep Fenwick took another step forward by defeating St. Patrick's, 25 to 14. With the field in such a condition, a bit of comedy was expected. It was the usual thing to see players sliding in the mud for extra yardage. Spectacular runs, not to mention frequent fumbles, were plentiful. Cummins, Norris, and Hayes starred on the offense, while Nebel, Spehn, and Flannigan showed their ability on the defense.

Norris scored early in the first quarter on a 15-yard jaunt around the end, the muddy field preventing the extra point. In the second quarter McGrath scored from the 2-yard stripe. The extra point was again missed. Toward the end of the half McGrath shot, in quick succession, three passes to Hayes, one for 25 yards, one for a touchdown, and another for the extra point.

Soon after the third period started, Cummins clipped off about twenty yards for a touchdown. In spite of the score, St. Pat's didn't give in. Pasierb dodged through the line for the first tally against Fenwick. The Black and White's second team could not hold them. Again the Green and Gold scored, Wilson catching his second pass for the extra point. The rampage wasn't stopped till the first team returned to the fray.

Fenwick 34

St. Philip 0

With Bob Cummins playing the stellar role, St. Philip's were trounced, and a new scoring record was hung up. Philip's kicked to McGrath to open the game. Unable to gain, Fenwick kicked to Philip's 25-yard line, where Maloney recovered a fumble. After two futile line plays, McGrath passed to Masterson for a touchdown. The try for point failed.

By passes and line plays the Black and White were soon deep in Philip's territory. Here Cummins caught another pass for a score. The Friars continued in their fury with Cummins clipping off a 45-yard run and scoring on the next play. McGrath converted. During the short time that Philip's had the ball, their half-back was tackled behind his own goal for a safety.

In the second half Philip's couldn't gain, and Fenwick took the ball on the 45-yard stripe. On the first play Norris scooted all the way to the goal, and a few minutes later Cummins broke away for fifty-five yards for his third touchdown. A number of Black and White substitutes were then sent into the game, holding their own till the end.

Fenwick 27

St. Mel 0

Fenwick had sweet revenge as they defeated their old rivals, St. Mel, by the score of 27 to 0. All through the first half Fenwick's line held the Irish chargers, but in their turn the Black and White couldn't do more than make several first downs.

The second half told a different story. The Melmen seemed tired in the face of a fresh Friar outfit. Spehn kicked to Mel's two-yard line. Forced to punt, Mel's kicked to Masterson, who returned it to their 35-yard stripe. With two plays negotiated by McGrath and Norris, a touchdown was scored. McGrath converted. From this point the game turned into a rout. Norris scored again on a twisting 25-yard run, McGrath getting the extra point. Cummins scored on an end run. Masterson returned a punt to the two-yard line from where Cummins again scored. McGrath passed to Norris for the point.

Weber 0

The Friars expected that the game with Weber would be easy, but they gave the boys from Oak Park a surprise. The lowly Red and White had plenty of fight even to the final whistle. While the game was still young, McGrath raced fifty-five yards for a touchdown. He failed to convert. A few minutes later Cummins brought the ball up to the goal line, and McGrath scored a second time. The kick for the extra point was good. Late in the second quarter a pass from Joy to McDaniel was good for another tally. Joy kicked the pigskin between the up-rights. Weber then started a drive that took them to Fenwick's 30-yard line. McGrath countered by racing 70 yards for a touchdown, and then he converted. The last score was made when a pass from Joy to Uselis carried the ball to the 5-yard line. From this point Norris carried it over. The kick failed.

Fenwick 20

St. Ignatius 0

The Friars won the Sectional Championship from the previously undefeated St. Ignatius' team. There was no denying their power. All through the first quarter the ball was carried up and down the field, with Fenwick having a slight edge. The break came early in the second period when an Ignatius man interfered with a pass, and the ball went to Fenwick. On the third down, with the ball on Ignatius' two-yard line, Pesch sneaked through center for a touchdown. The extra point was missed. Later on Fenwick took the ball on their own 35-yard line. From there Norris, behind perfect interference, raced sixty-five yards for the second counter. McGrath converted.

The third period was an even battle. A fighting Black and White team, in the final period, pushed Ignatius back to their 3-yard line. When Ignatius tried to pass from behind their goal, the ball was partially blocked by Maloney and caught by Jack Hardin for a touchdown. McGrath kicked the extra point.

Title Game

Before a crowd of 5,000 loyal supporters, who came down to Soldiers' Field in a huge parade, Fenwick was defeated by Loyola for the Catholic League Championship. A bitter blast swept diagonally across the gridiron, making punting against the wind almost impossible, and this, together with the running of McCarthy, Loyola's star halfback, gave the North-siders their winning margin. The stellar roles in that game were played by McCarthy and McSheehy for Loyola; by Spehn, Flannigan, and McGrath for Fenwick. Loyola won the toss and chose the north goal, with the wind at their backs. Aided by this wind Loyola dominated the first quarter and the three times forced McGrath to punt from his own goal line. As soon as Loyola got possession of the ball, they immediately "opened up". Charging through the right side of Fenwick's line, the North-siders were soon deep in Black and White territory. Backed up against their goal, the Fenwick team tightened and held for downs. However, in the second quarter, after advancing the ball to Fenwick's 30-yard stripe, McCarthy cut through his own left tackle for a touchdown. A minute later he hit the right side for the extra punt. After a few more plays the half was ended.

For the first time this season Fenwick's chargers were behind. The beginning of the second half showed they did not intend to remain there for long. Masterson, with his shifty stride, returned the kick-off to Loyola's 30-yard line, where he was brought down by their safety man. On the next play Cummins broke through his own left tackle and with a clear field ahead of him tripped on the 15-yard line. At this point a fumble smothered the drive for a touchdown. In the last quarter a pass to McSheehy carried the ball to the shadow of Fenwick's goal posts. McSheehy then plunged over from the 3-yard line. Spehn and Nebel tackled McCarthy when he tried to gain the extra point. Upon receiving the kick-off Fenwick filled the air with passes, but the receivers could not break loose for substantial gains. The whistle ended the game, and the smartest team that Fenwick has had tasted, for the first time, the bitter gall of defeat.

We have nothing but the highest praise for the 1933 football team. Its machine-like precision, its blocking, tackling, and running were the favorite subjects of more than one sportswriter. But with all this we are apt to forget about one fact, and a very important fact. Such precision does not come by chance; even the work of individual stars — and we had them — was not entirely due to innate ability. Such things are the result of intelligent direction. Somewhere those boys, both as a unit and as individuals, learned their football fundamentals. Hats off to that tireless mentor, Tony Lawless, who, in a few short years, worked hard on crude talent and turned out a football team that was the pride of Fenwick and the marvel of football fans. In praising the team we are acknowledging the worth of the man who was, in every sense, behind it. And it is no secret that the boys who work under Tony Lawless consider him the ideal coach.

C. Y. O. Bowling Championship

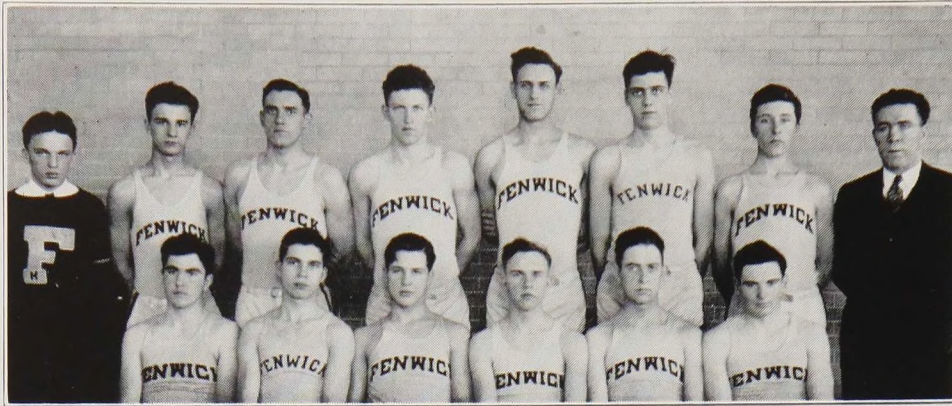

It isn't often that a high school team finds that all opposition wilts before it. That was the experience of the 1933-34 Black and White bowling team. As a matter of record, the team played fifty-one games during the season and won forty-four of them. That is serious business, but it takes on a bit of comedy when we find that our bowlers won twenty-one games in a row between Dec. 23, 1933 and Feb. 10, 1934. Eleven matches were clean sweeps, our team taking all three games. We started out by saying that the opposition wilted; actually the opposition was bowled over. With nothing in prospect but a longer series of victories, the C. Y. O. high school bowling season was prematurely ended. The Black and White team was too far in the lead to lose the title. For the second successive year, then, we have been able to boast of a championship bowling team.

The final scoring stood:

Jack Smith	49	7,584
Jim Rice	56	8,411
Fred Nebel	29	4,131

The Friars heavies traveled to Aurora on Sunday, December 17th, to open their cage schedule against a tall, fighting Marmion team, composed of students from the former Fox Valley High and Jasper Academy. After taking an early lead, Fenwick was never headed by the home team, but was kept in constant danger through the unerring accuracy of Rukas, who was leading scorer with 13 points. McGrath led the victors with 10 points, sinking 3 baskets and 4 free throws. Joy and Rabe made commendable showings until they were forced from the game on fouls. Masterson and Harvey, the guards, turned in steady defensive games.

In the second practice game which was played in Joliet on Sunday afternoon, December 31st, Fenwick was conquered by the overwhelming tally of 43 to 26 by the Joliet Catholic High. Led by "Stretch" McGann, towering 6 foot 5 inch center, the Joliet cagers jumped to a 13-0 lead before Fenwick could register. Besides controlling the tip-off McGann accounted for 17 points. Once they had found the basket, the Friars put up a valiant fight but at no time did they threaten the immense lead of the home team. Harvey and Joy were high point men for the losers, scoring 12 and 8 points respectively. Because of gridiron tactics used on the court, Norris and Rabe were ejected on personals.

The Catholic High later won the National Catholic Championship at Loyola.

ST. PATRICK 25

Ed "Moose" Norris entered the limelight, which he has since dominated, against St. Pat's in Fenwick's first League game of the season. Norris was high point man for the day in scoring three baskets and three free throws, giving him two points more than St. Pat's high man, Garrity.

The score indicates how evenly fought the game was as it was 4-4 at the quarter, 8-8 at the half and 21-21 when the final whistle blew, necessitating an overtime period. With ten seconds to go in the fourth quarter and Pat's leading by two points Fenwick unleashed a series of quick passes which brought Norris into position to score a one-handed hook-shot, which tied the game. As the overtime period opened Norris intercepted a pass in mid-floor and dribbled down unmolested to sink a set-up. A referee's decision nullified this tally. Encouraged by this "break" St. Pat's forged ahead with two long pot-shots bringing the score to 25-21.

Fenwick defeated Weber for its first Catholic League victory in heavyweight basketball, on their opponents' home floor, on January 9th. The Friars heavies won a dull and uninteresting game by the not so startling score of 29 to 23, the game not being "put on ice" until the last quarter when 3 straight baskets were made by McGrath, Norris and Joy. Norris was again high point man for the Black and White scoring "four buckets", while Rinkiewicz starred for the home boys, compiling a total of seven points.

Masterson must be complimented on his great defensive play, holding his man to three points. Rabe, Fenwick's towering center, was deprived of two baskets when the ball rolled around the ring and off, but made up for this by continually governing the re-bound off both backboards.

Paddy Driscoll's heavyweight quintet was defeated by Fenwick in hard fought battle in their own gym on January 12th. Fenwick, playing as the under-dog, opened the scoring of the game with Rabe sinking two baskets and a free throw.

A long shot by Joy and two clever shots by Norris gave Fenwick a 11-7 lead at the end of the first quarter. By smooth clicking team work Fenwick continued to increase their lead. Harvey then climaxed a series of beautiful passes by a set-up shot to end the second period at 17-9.

St. Mel's showed great come-back power in the second half and with three straight baskets in the fourth quarter they tied the score at 19 up. With 19 seconds to go, Crowley fouled McGrath, who sank his charity toss for the winning margin ending the game 20 to 19.

Fenwick played their first home game against St. Michael's defeating them 39-16 mainly through the efforts of the "Dynamite Twins." McGrath and Norris compiled 21 points between them, scoring 9 and 12 respectively. Rabe controlled the tip-off for Fenwick and due to his height was a great aid to his team in intercepting passes and in recovering re-bounds. Joy's fast breaks enabled him to out-manuever his slower opponent, leaving him open for several shots. Masterson played a steady floor game and contributed three points to the team's total. Pat Harvey, stellar guard, was forced from participation in the game by a rather serious knee injury.

Knuth was the star for the losers playing a tight defensive game and sinking four long baskets. It was the Friars' game from beginning to end since they discovered St. Michael's weakness on the free throw line early in the contest. Thus through a series of set plays they were able to work the ball in from the forward to the center.

St. Philip gave Fenwick their first defeat in four starts by a 34 to 26 score. Rabe opened the game with a hook-shot to give Fenwick a 2-0 lead. Three baskets by Pat Howlett and one by Stockwell erased this lead and put St. Philip in a position that was never again threatened.

Bill Shay's lads pulled a surprise by using a zone defense which was virtually impenetrable. This disabled Fenwick's passing attack and forced them to resort to long shots from the sides and corners. The low ceiling was a great hindrance to the boys and many of these shots touched it thus giving the ball to St. Philip out of bounds. With Pat Howlett as pivot, the well coached, fast passing, hard breaking St. Philip team displayed the brand of ball which led them to the Catholic League Championship. He was ably assisted by his brother, Rollie, and Don Stockwell. The leading scorers for the losers were Joy with ten points and Rabe with seven.

On Thursday, February 1st, the Fenwick Friars played host to their traditional foes — St. Ignatius — and were beaten by a 27-24 score. It was a slow, dull game in which the Friars were out-tipped and out-charged but not out-fought. Only once did they display the brand of ball they were capable of — this coming in the fourth quarter, when they diminished St. Ignatius' rather large lead. However, the tall opponents kept control of the ball in the final minutes and retained a three point margin. McGrath and Norris divided the scoring honors with 7 points apiece, while Liska, Tarpey and Horan played steady ball for the victors.

The Friars were led by the versatile "Moose" Norris who played a brilliant all around game and "Granny" Rabe whose passing and defensive work were outstanding. Fenwick's chances were enhanced through the absence of Ralph Jackowski.

Masterson opened the scoring with a long shot from the middle. Joy and Norris followed with shots in quick succession but Halpin and Wilkinson retaliated with two quick set-ups. After this spirited rush the play see-sawed and the half ended with the Black and White leading 14-7. In the third stanza the Ritans controlled the play and soon tied the score 17 all. Fenwick drew away with a belated rally and when the final gun sounded they were leading 25 to 21.

"Big Ed" Norris turned in the greatest performance of his career against St. George, and by sinking eight baskets and six free-throws, he led his team to a 31-23 victory. This scoring spree of twenty-two points broke the school record for high scoring in one game, which was established last year by "Jimmie" Snyder, who rolled up twenty-one points. Norris was greatly aided by quick, true passes from his mates, who speedily sized up the St. George weakness on the pivot line. Rabe, Joy, and McGrath completed the scoring with nine points combined. Brady scored six points for the losers before he was put out on fouls and with Hayes, who scored eight, put up a rugged attack which kept St. George in the running until late in the game.

Baskets by Norris and Joy brought the Friars to an early advantage which they retained until there were barely two minutes left to play. The Ritans brought the score up to 19-20 and then Jackowski sunk a one handed hook shot bringing the score in their favor, 21-20, as the game ended. COMMUNITY CENTER

Fenwick's Catholic League Champions opened the season at the home pool with the Community Center mermen, the Black and White taking the honors, 36-21.
ROOSEVELT

In the second meet the Roosevelt tankers came out to Fenwick to win with a sizeable margin, 41-28. However, there was consolation for the home team even in this defeat. New pool records were established by Fenwick men in the 50-yd. breast-stroke and in the 50-yd. free-style, while Keifer of Roosevelt set a new record in the back-stroke.

AUSTIN

The neighborly visit to Austin was just short of disastrous. Our team was swamped to the gunwales. The score: 49-26.

MAINE

The State Champions were no more considerate of our feelings than Austin was. Our tankers travelled to Park Ridge and there received a thorough beating to the tune of 51-24. Although the score did not prove it, our swimmers displayed some of their championship form.

ST. GEORGE

The darkness could not last. The St. George team was a victim to Fenwick's power, losing by the score of 42-24. In this meet our tankers won all first, except the diving.

ST. GEORGE

Fenwick immediately made a trip to Evanston to battle with St. George's in its own pool. The Black and White team won with apparent ease. For additional glory records were set by our splashers in the 140-yd. medley relay and in the 40-yd. back-stroke.

AUSTIN

The night-mare returned. Without much difficulty Austin left our team in its wake. The score: 38-31.

CULVER

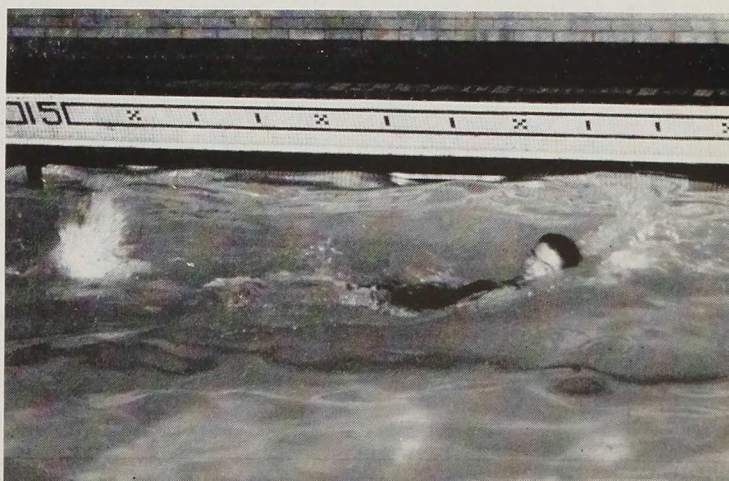

On the trip to Culver, Indiana, the Black and White swimmers looked for and received a very warm welcome. Still chafing under the defeat of last year, the academy boys were determined to win. They lost no time in taking the lead and roundly beating our tankers by the score of 45-21.

LOYOLA

Swimming at home makes a difference. In this meet the Loyola tankers battled to the finish. In fact, the outcome depended on the last event, the medley relay, in which Captain Carroll, Spehn, and Collins set a new pool record. The score: 37-32.

ROOSEVELT

With the thought in mind that the series had to be evened up, the Fenwick "wave chasers" fought it out in the Roosevelt pool and won by the closest of margins, 38-37.

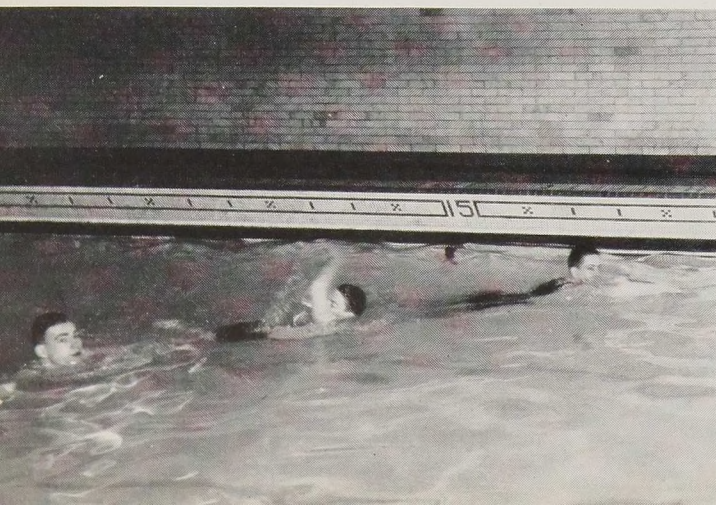

Catholic League Swimming Meet

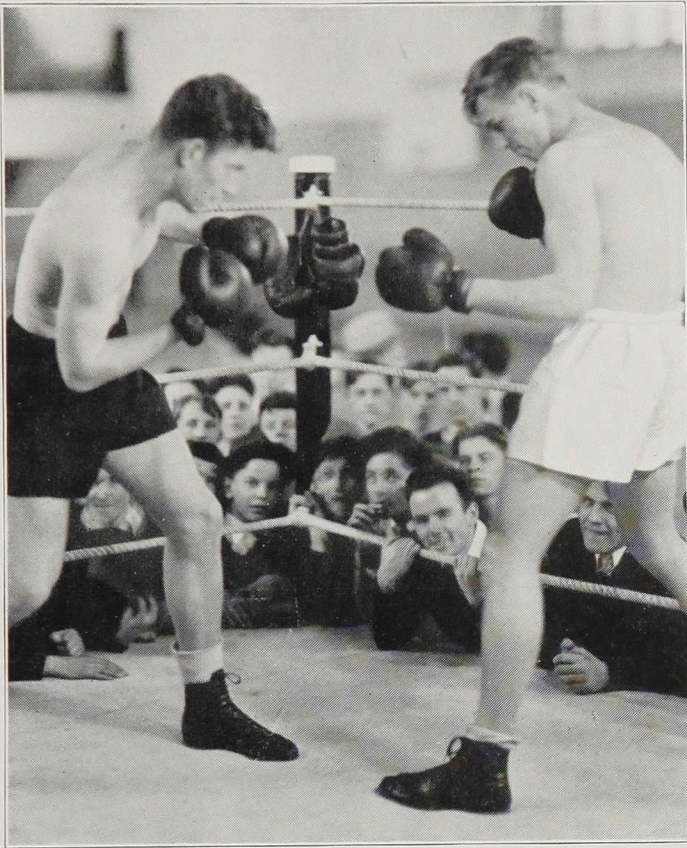

The Catholic League swimming meet for this year was held April 20th and 21st in Fenwick's pool. The Black and White natators, led by the league champion back-stroker, Bill Carroll, splashed to a victory over their friendly rivals for the second successive year. The meet this year far surpassed the previous meet because of the keen competition given by the Loyola swimmers. The sophomore Oelerich, a coming champion in free style events, ably supported by Dowdle and Byrant, kept Loyola in the race for the title. Fenwick, however, showed its superiority in the breast and back-stroke events. George Spehn, Fenwick's football leader last fall, led his teammates, Ed McHugh and A. Burke, home in the breast-stroke, while Captain Bill Carroll, with McCauley and Monaco, captured the three places in the back-stroke. These victories, coupled with the medley relay, gave Fenwick its margin of points. In the medley relay the Fenwick trio, Spehn, Carroll, and Monaco, hung up a new Catholic League record of 1: 30: 4. The medley relay team suffered only one defeat this year, and that was due to an accident at the start rather than to a better Roosevelt team.

The students of Fenwick can justly be proud of their swimmers. We regret the passing of such stars as Capt. Bill Carroll, George Spehn, John Monaco, the McHughs, Jack McCauley, and the rest. We hope that their record will long inspire future Fenwick teams. Adios, fellow swimmers! May you capture the glory of life by the same effort and courage.

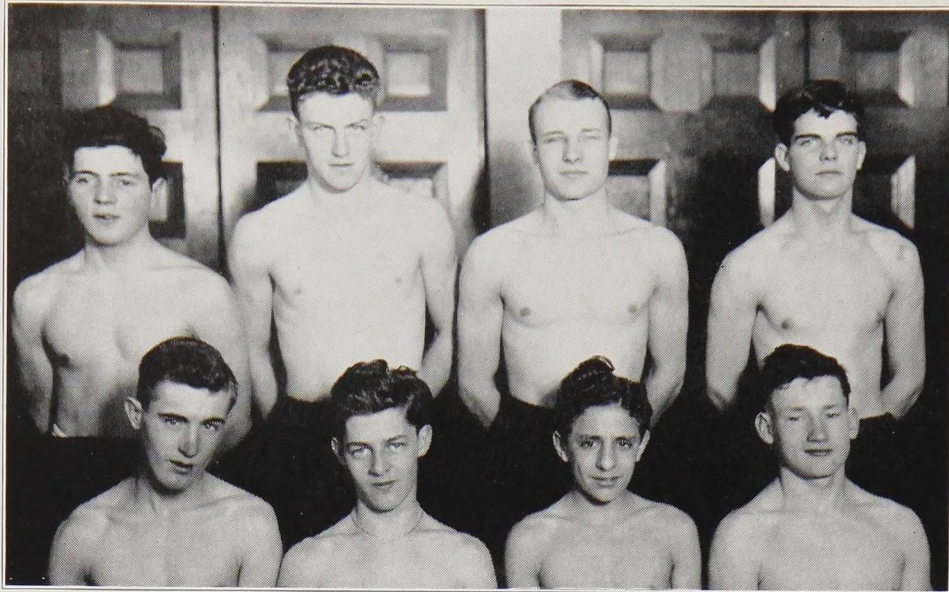

* * * * *

A word of praise to Mr. Richard Thompson, that silent, serious guide behind the glory of Fenwick's Champion Swimmers. To him belongs the credit for developing the material. This year he brought out some future greats. His uncanny eye detected the hidden ability of Alex Burke, our next star breast-stroker. Under his care Fahrner and O'Connor learned the fine points of diving and subsequently placed in the Championship. Fenwick seems well equipped to get the most out of her material with Coaches Lawless and Thompson on the job. Congratulations, Mr. Thompson, on your two successive Championships.

Boxing

E. Bludau, R. McGrath, A. Victor, W. Smith.
J. Hyland, J. Donovan, R. Paternoster, P. Sweeney.

Silver Gloves Champions

PATERNOSTER — BOYCE

Two freshmen were displaying their knowledge of fisticuffs. As a fight it was somewhat tame. Despite his handicap of height and reach, Boyce wasn't a bit perturbed. Win or lose, he was determined to have something to say. After the flurry of punches, Boyce was the loser, but not by a wide margin.

DONOVAN — DOONAN

By way of contrast, the second fight was a whirlwind. For three years these two boxers have been on the card. Twice Jerry Donovan had won. Barney Doonan knew it was his last chance. If the crowd wanted action, there was no disappointment. Boxing gloves filled the air for three rounds, and when the smoke cleared, the judges' decision went to Jerry for the third year.

HYLAND — CUSACK

We hardly know what to expect in a few years after seeing freshmen with such form. Cusack is an example. Hyland won the fight, but he had to take plenty in order to do it. When a wild right caught him flush on the jaw, Cusack was visibly jarred. That was his undoing.

SWEENEY — TRIMARCO

Acting on the theory that if he threw enough punches some, by the law of averages, would surely land, Sweeney got off to a flying start. With all his unquestioned form, Trimarco evidently wasn't aggressive enough to win.

SMITH — CAMPBELL

This fight was lost by Campbell because of poorly aimed and back-hand blows. More than once he was warned by the referee. Smith, without a doubt, had better form; Campbell's was more of the wildcat variety.

BLUDAU — O'BRIEN

A dopester would probably give this fight to Bludau. But it wasn't as simple as that. In spite of his lack of experience O'Brien wasn't timid. He demonstrated that he was not only tough but aggressive. Bludau won by not too large a margin.

VICTOR — MUSHAM

It would be something of a paradox for Victor to be a loser. However, he didn't have to depend on a paradox in order to win. Probably he surprised many by his form. Musham flashed his punches in the second round, but Victor was ahead at the finish.

McGRATH — CUMMINS

The thought uppermost in the minds of the fans was, will Cummins uncork and land a vicious right? He tried; there's no denying. But McGrath was never directly in its path. Only once was it close. Nothing short of a knockout could take the fight from McGrath. He won by a wide margin.

JUNE, 1934

SECOND YEAR

ALL IN FUN

Think of the JOY we will realize when, at the end of MAY, we can bid a fond farewell to the Seniors — those Seniors who insist on telling the Freshmen to DWAN home, who are always LYON, who live on that lousy HARVEY Avenue in the UPTON of Oak Park, who pollute the WATERS of our pool, and who are forever BOWEN down to the women.

When the Seniors leave, our school will look like a NEWMAN. DAILY these fellows HARRIS the good name of Fenwick. They're like little worms that KRALJ on the ground. Every MONDI the majority of them come DOLAN along. At the fights they STEGER to their corners after they have been hit HARDIN the face, and the coach raises the hand of their opponent as VICTOR. Then the dumb coyotes begin ROGAN around as if they were lost.

And tough! Say, listen to this. I remember a time when a guy from SPEHN SMITH a teacher with the CORR of an apple. Even the CUMMINS and goings of these fellows look bad.

And eat! Most of them eat MUSH — AM and eggs for all meals. The way they play BLAUL is pathetic. They are always FANNING out.

Now, if you can't get this story, a large FIEG may help you to digest it.

Beside the Gleaming Saxophones

Jane: "I don't believe a word you say.
... I simply don't believe a word you say to me."

John: "Lady lion-tamer!"

Jane: "Ohhhh, Johnnie — how frightfully cute of you! Say some more funny things to me."

John: "You won't believe a word I say."

Jane: "Exactly. A girl can't be too careful, when a gent like you is taking her heart into her mouth."

John: "Shall we walk a little faster?"

Jane: "Meaning?"

John: "Meaning that I keep forgetting we're dancing — that's how you do me."

Jane: "Subtle like a horse, John."

John: "Are you glad you came to the Red Room with me?"

Jane: "Are you glad?"

John: "Are you glad?"

Jane: "Let's start over and try again."

John: "Yes, but are you glad you came to the Red Room, and if so, why?"

Jane: "I'm glad because I see such inspirational clothes . . . because I always get five or seven new ideas for making my last winter's dress a thing of beauty and a joy forever."

John: "And why else are you glad you came?"

Jane: "Because all my friends and well-wishers see me here."

John: "And for no other reason . . ."

Jane: "And because I like the trapeze lighting fixtures."

John: "Patience, patience, John. Remember, she's only a child."

Jane: "The orchestra's marvelous . . .
and I adore dancing."

John: "So, all in all, you decide it would be worth your while to come to the Red Room — in spite of me."

Jane: "To spite you. Are you glad you brought me?"

John: "Yes, because I like the cute way
the ginger ale bottle tops fit.
I'm mad about the floor lights,
too."

Jane: "John, you're being narsty, now."

John: "Narsty — who, me? Never felt un-narstier in my life."
 Jane: "Ah, he loves me!"
 John: "Sassy brat!"
 Jane: "Lovely brute! What's that music?"
 John: "'Try a Little Tenderness'."
 Jane: "Words or music?"
 John: "You be the words and I'll accompany you."
 Jane: "John, there's Virginia Astorbilt over there."
 John: "Think of that."
 Jane: "Who'd ever think she could look like that?"
 John: "Doth the lady toss scallions?"
 Jane: "Guess I'm jealous . . . she always has such frightfully interesting-looking men in tow."
 John: "Which, by deduction, should make me frightfully sorry for you."
 Jane: "John, you do have the quaintest ways of getting personal. Did I ever tell you that I adore the way your hair wrinkles?"
 John: "That helps some."
 Jane: "And have I ever mentioned that I simply dote on the way your ears fit you?"
 John: "I'm feeling better, thank you."
 Jane: "Such sweet haberdashery, too. Always such pleasant ties."
 John: "Much obliged, lady. You can relax now."
 Jane: "Shall we sit down?"
 John: "It's being done, you know. The orchestra is going out for lemonade."

Vale!

Farewell, Fenwick, to wisdom and folly,
 To years of study and days that were jolly.
 Spring, summer, autumn, and winter;
 To all my friends and to all the kinder.
 (You can't fool me on these farewell rhymes;
 I've written them all far too many times.)
 Farewell, professors, coach, Ted, and Mike,
 To Buckley's car and to Garrison's "bike";
 Corridors, lockers, desks, and walls;
 To football, ping-pong, and basketballs.
 Corned beef hash and Irish stew,
 Candy to eat and gum to chew,
 Boston baked and Eskimo pies,
 Matching pennies and throwing dice.
 To History three-fold and Economics,
 Algebra, Geometry, Mathematics.
 Farewell to all, for now we're through;
 I say again farewell to you.

"But you said they would let you play in this game."

Was His Face Red?

- when Flanigan, after “skipping”, answered the telephone only to discover that it was Father Gainor.
- when Kelsey was caught smoking in a barber’s chair by the coach during football season.
- when Monaco was caught charging credulous freshmen and sophomores five cents for swimming in the pool.
- when Norris was asked for autographs by two girls, friends of Phil Kennealy, the well-known boxer.
- when, at football practice, the coach, after deriding Strening for not getting up, discovered that he was “out”.
- when McCauley was forced to borrow money from the girl-friend at the Blackhawk Cafe.
- when Newman reported at the wrong gym for a Fenwick-Ignatius basketball game.
- when Upton, while playing dice, said: “Who’ll take me?” and Father Gainor answered: “I will.”
- when Monaco, while at church one Sunday, took out a handkerchief, liberating much confetti.
- when Fieg, at the Trinity senior prom, happened to stroll into the wrong lounge.
- when Colangelo ordered milk at the Chez Paree and saw the bill.
- when the same boy, in giving a lecture at Trinity, inserted the same slide four times.
- when Fanning, playing at guard, knocked down a pass in the Weber game.
- when Bermingham went into a tavern to buy something and discovered his father there.
- when Lamb was seen late one night pacing the streets of Oak Park with a pop-gun slung under his arm.
- when Spehn, after blocking a man viciously in the Pat’s game, saw it was Flanigan.
- when Monaco was seen crawling past Father Nugent’s classroom door.
